

Sacrifice to the god Self

He's all I ever wanted
The only man I'll ever need
I'll go where he wants to take me
Wherever he wants to lead

He says he loves me too
That he's going to marry me
That there's no need to wait
Last night, he and I became we

I'm late! I'm never late!
How do I tell him? What do I say?
But hey! We're getting married
I just didn't think it would be this way

What does he mean am I sure it's his?
What kind of girl does he think I am?
Of course it's his baby
No I'm not lying, and this isn't a scam

What does he mean, he's not ready?
He's afraid! Well so am I
But we're getting married anyways
Don't tell me not to cry!

He's got a solution? Great!
What does he mean, "Me or the baby?"
I could never do what he's asking
Or could I? Well maybe

I have the choice, it's my body
It's just tissue, so they say not life
And then we will be married
Then I can become his wife

I've followed where he led
Nothing to worry about anymore
Like none of this ever happened
What?! He doesn't love me like before!

He's leaving me for another girl!
He's not going to marry me?
I've sacrificed my child for nothing
I've ignored my responsibility

The guilt would have been overwhelming
But that's not how the story went
I chose the baby over him
And he's been a blessing Heaven sent

Not saying it hasn't been hard now and then
But God has been with us since that day
Now Our Father has drawn me to his Son
Lord Jesus forgave me and showed me the way

So if you have a choice, choose life, not death
Don't sacrifice a child for selfish love
Ask the lord to help you through it
There's not greater aid then that from above
